

Medical Genius's Unspeakable Marriage Chapter 126

Matthew first glanced at Julian before handing a mini Rejuvenating Pill to the little girl. "Your father is lying to you! You still have many more birthdays to celebrate in the future with huge cakes and plenty of beautiful clothes! Now, take this candy and eat it. Uncle Larson will buy you anything you want on your birthdays!"

Nicole's eyes lit up with excitement. "Seriously? Uncle Larson, c-could you please get a pair of shoes for my Daddy instead? Everyone thinks Daddy is dirty because his toes are exposed..."

At that moment, Julian broke into tears like a child.

Matthew's heart went out for the little girl while he caressed her hair gently.

The pitiful little girl was born with a tragic fate but still, she cared more about her father than herself.

In her short-lasting life, she was forced to bid farewell to the world before she even had the chance to witness the beauty of it.

"Don't worry. With Uncle Larson around, no one will bully you and your father anymore. Come on and eat this candy first!"

Nicole followed his instruction obediently by taking the mini Rejuvenating Pill and she soon fell fast asleep.

Julian did not stop him because he knew Matthew would not harm the little girl.

"What's that candy?" Julian asked curiously.

"It's not a candy, it's a pill!"

"A pill?" Julian asked, looking astonished, "What pill is that?"

"The pill can cure her illness. I'm a doctor at a hospital and I've successfully cured a lot of similar cases there. I'll give you a prescription later on and Nicole will completely recover after finishing the prescribed dosage in one week!"

Julian looked baffled when he asked, "Matthew, did I hear you wrongly? My daughter is suffering from a congenital heart disease and according to the doctor, this type of disease can't be cured unless she gets a heart transplant."

Matthew chuckled and said, "Just because the other doctors can't cure her, it doesn't mean I can't. I'll send you the required chinese herbs later and you can brew it yourself."

Julian scratched his head and said, "I think you can just give me the prescription because I can get the chinese herbs myself. After all, I used to own a chinese herbs business several years ago and I guess I know their prices better than you."

Matthew chuckled, thinking that no one could possibly know chinese herbs better than himself.

However, it did take him by surprise to know that Julian used to own a chinese herbs business back then.

He couldn't help but think of Wellness Herbarry.

Sasha was still in a quandary to decide who she should entrust Wellness Herbarry to.

As Cunningham Pharmaceutical was mainly involved in the research and development of drugs, no one in the company was suitable to manage the Chinese herbs company.

Perhaps it might be a good idea to let Julian have a try.

“Bud, what're you doing for a living now?” Matthew asked.

“I'm doing some miscellaneous work at the construction site, mainly because it's near to my place and it's easier for me to come home and take care of my kid.”

Matthew nodded before asking, “Would you be interested in managing a chinese herbs business? Why don't you come and help me?”

Julian was stunned for a second before he asked, “Are you involved in a chinese herbs business now?”

“Yup, I just opened a company for the business.”

“Hmm...” Julian found his offer attractive.

However, he hesitated when he thought of Nicole.

Matthew, who could see what was bothering him, said with a smile, “There's no rush. We can discuss this after Nicole recovers from her illness.”

Julian let out a sigh and felt sorrowful. He couldn't even be sure how long his daughter would live, let alone believe that she would recover.

Medical Genius's Unspeakable Marriage Chapter 127

At the office of Carlson Group, Master Tiger was carried by his underlings to Stanley's office and he started wailing as soon as he entered his room. “Stanley, you must do justice for me!

That scumbag was bold enough to beat me up in public! He paid you no respect at all! If we don't get even with him, no one in Eastcliff is going to be respectful to you anymore in the future!”

With a frown, Stanley asked him for an account of the incident.

Master Tiger then told him everything about the incident with some details he added himself to make it sound more dramatic.

He complained to Stanley that Julian had flirted with his girlfriend and Matthew was his associate who had bullied and injured them because he was physically trained.

Julian's ex-wife, Jayde, nodded all the way and exaggerated the details as well. "Stanley, Tiger even mentioned your name to them but not only did they not take it seriously, but they even humiliated you in public."

After listening to them, Stanley couldn't help but be annoyed as not many in Eastcliff were bold enough to be rude to him.

"Go and get the two guys over here!" After Stanley gave out that instruction in a furious voice, a group of men standing next to him immediately dashed out of the door.

Master Tiger was overjoyed to hear that. "What you're doing is right, Stanley. You must allow me to kill that scumbag myself later! By the way, is Mr. Harrison around? I can't move my legs after that lad did some stuff to me. I went to the hospital but the doctors couldn't pinpoint the problem with my legs. Could you ask Mr. Harrison to take a look at my condition?"

Stanley shook his head and said, "Mr. Harrison isn't free because he's busy preparing for the Six Southern States Medical Conference."

Medical Genius's Unspeakable Marriage Chapter 128

Before long, Stanley's driver reached Julian's place; he picked both of them up and headed straight to Carlson Group.

When they reached Stanley's office, they could hear Master Tiger's grumblings from afar. "Stanley, have you found the two guys? Please act faster because after my legs are healed by the doctor, I want to kill them myself! Stanley, we've agreed before this that I will throw them into Lake Eastcliff!"

Matthew pushed the door open and asked in a loud and clear voice, "Who are you going to throw into Lake Eastcliff?"

Those inside the office immediately turned around to face Matthew. Joy was written all over Master Tiger's face when he saw Matthew.

"Stanley, I'm impressed by your men's efficiency! They managed to seize the two b*stards in such a short time! Great, Stanley, let's break the legs of that scumbag first! I'll then teach him a lesson myself after my legs get better!"

Looking triumphant, Jayde gloated, “Julian, I told you not to pester me anymore long before this but you refused to listen! Hmph, you want to tie me down by making use of our daughter, don’t you? I will make sure you give up any hope of that today! A guy like you will never get a woman like me! Stanley, you don’t have to be lenient to them for my sake.”

Meanwhile, Stanley’s face turned extremely dark because it had never occurred to him that Matthew was the one Master Tiger had offended.

“Stanley, what’re you waiting for? Do it! Get revenge for me!” Master Tiger urged.

Julian, whose body was trembling with fear, took a step forward and said, “President Carlson, Master Tiger, I am the one who caused the incident. Please let me offer my apology to the two of you...”

“That won’t be necessary!” Matthew grabbed Julian’s arm and flashed a faint smile at Stanley. “President Carlson, do you want me to offer my apology to you?”

It was only then did Stanley come back to his senses. He walked toward Matthew quickly and gave him a bow. “Mr. Larson, I’m very sorry about this. I had no idea that this hopeless b*stard offended you! I apologize to you on his behalf and I hope you can forgive him!”

Both Master Tiger and Julian were stunned. What was going on? Did Stanley Carlson, the man who enjoyed a distinguished status in the city, just apologize to Matthew? Stanley wouldn’t even adopt such an attitude in the presence of the masters of the Ten Greatest Families of Eastcliff.

“Stanley, h-have you gone mad? That scumbag injured me and humiliated you. Why did you apologize to him? What exactly are you doing?”

In a fit of raging fury, Stanley slapped Master Tiger and roared angrily, “Keep your mouth shut! Do you have any idea who he is? If Master Newman were here, even he would have to treat Mr. Larson politely! Who do you think you are? Who gave you the guts to speak so rudely to Mr. Larson?”

Master Tiger was so horrified after listening to what Stanley said that he nearly wet his pants. Billy Newman was the strongest support behind Stanley and he was the king who dominated Eastcliff. Since even Billy had to treat Matthew respectfully, no one else in the city would want to offend Matthew. No wonder Stanley respected Matthew so much!

Jayde too widened her eyes in shock as she was surprised to know that Julian actually had such a big shot as his friend. Looking apprehensive, Stanley glanced at Julian and asked in a low voice, “Mr. Larson, who is this gentleman?”

“He is my buddy who has gone through a lot with me. Did you notice his legs? One of them was broken because of me!”

Just one sentence was enough to let Stanley understand their friendship. Stanley then landed a slap on Tiger’s face and yelled, “What are you waiting for? Offer your apology to Mr. Larson now!”

Looking terror-stricken, Master Tiger pushed himself off the wheelchair and dropped to the ground. “Mr. Larson, I’ve realized my mistake. Please be the bigger man and f-forgive me... I won’t repeat my mistake ever again...”

Tiger perked up immediately at the mention of the medical conference. “Stanley, is the medical conference around the corner already? Do you think Eastcliff will be able to get a better result this time? Our city has always been at the bottom out of all other cities. If we can get a better ranking this time, you will then be able to expand your business out of Eastcliff, and your assets will increase by multiple times!”

Stanley did not make any comment. In fact, he cared about the medical conference even more so than Tiger.

Prior to knowing Matthew, he did not harbor any hope to gain anything from the medical conference but after knowing him, he suddenly realized the medical conference could be a chance for him to attain greater success.

“Let’s see... I can get a superb doctor to check your condition!”

Master Tiger asked doubtfully, “A superb doctor? Do you know anyone who has better medical skill than Mr. Harrison?”

“You know nothing!” Stanley reprimanded him. “Mr. Larson’s medical skill is way better than Mr. Harrison’s! It just so happens that I need to invite him here to discuss the medical conference, otherwise, I wouldn’t ask him to come here just look at your legs!”

Master Tiger was shocked because he had never seen Stanley being so respectful to anyone other than Billy Newman.

Shortly after Matthew and Julian sat by the door, Matthew received a call from Stanley. “Mr. Larson, may I know where you are now? I need a favor from you but I’m not sure whether you would be available to help.”

Matthew laughed because he could basically guess what it was about. “Of course I’m available. Just send a car over to pick me up!”

After giving Stanley an address and ending the call, Matthew said to Julian with a smile, “Speaking of the devil, here he comes. Let’s go and meet Stanley Carlson to tie up the loose ends!”

Julian looked rattled at once. “Stanley Carlson wants to meet us? I-Is he going to seek revenge on behalf of Master Tiger?”

Matthew chuckled. “He is seeking revenge but I’m not sure on whose behalf that will be!”

Julian felt puzzled and he wondered why Matthew was so confident about it.

Suddenly, something dawned upon him which prompted him to exclaim in surprise, “By the way, why do you have Stanley Carlson’s number? Do you know him? Is your friendship with him close enough to solve this issue? Matthew, Master Tiger is his cousin and from what I’ve heard, Stanley Carlson was brought up by Master Tiger’s mother, and he has always treated Master Tiger as his own younger brother. If you aren't very close to him, I-I think we should come up with a plan before the meeting. Why don't you just let me shoulder the blame? I can apologize to them..."

Matthew shook his head and insisted, "You don't have to do that! Whether I'm close enough with Stanley Carlson isn't important. You have to understand one thing—having friendships or relationships with people, no matter how prominent they are, is nothing compared to having exceptional talents and skills!"

Medical Genius's Unspeakable Marriage Chapter 129

"Begging me isn't going to do you any good. You have to ask my buddy here whether he's willing to forgive you!"

Master Tiger looked at Julian and hesitated slightly.

Stanley kicked him on his back and scolded angrily, "What are you waiting for? Apologize to him now! If Mr. Larson's friend refuses to forgive you today, I'll dump you into Lake Eastcliff later!"

Frightened by Stanley's threat, Master Tiger quickly caved in by saying, "Sir, I-I've realized my mistake. I will stop seeing this woman, so p-please forgive me and let me go..."

Jayde was stunned when she heard that because Master Tiger was a man who could provide her a comfortable living, and such a man was hard to come by.

What should she do in the future if Master Tiger was going to break up with her?

Julian's eyes reddened as the grievance he had suffered for the past few years was finally redressed at that very moment!

Matthew patted his shoulder and said, "Julian, just tell me what's in your mind. If you think he doesn't deserve your forgiveness, we can dump him into Lake Eastcliff!"

Master Tiger trembled in fear when he heard that because he believed very firmly that Stanley would really throw him into Lake Eastcliff himself if Matthew instructed him to do so.

Julian first let out a sigh and said, "Fine, since he has already apologized to me, let's forget about it. From now on, we're even!"

Master Tiger looked overjoyed to hear that.

Matthew then glanced at Master Tiger and said, "Julian, I'm surprised how kind and soft you've become! Is his apology enough to settle the scores? President Carlson, my buddy's family was destroyed and he has been living in a shabby hut up until now because of your younger brother. Do you think his apology is capable of solving everything?"

Stanley's eyes gleamed with enlightenment because he understood what Matthew was trying to imply.

“Tiger, is this how you are supposed to apologize? Show them your sincerity!” Stanley yelled angrily.

As a shrewd man himself, Master Tiger immediately understood what he meant.

“Yes, I-I was just about to address that. Mr. Davis, it was me who caused the trouble and it’s m-my obligation to offer you some compensation. Let’s see... I have a newly renovated townhouse in The Grand Pavilion which covers an area of over 270 square meters. I’ll offer it to you to compensate for whatever you’ve suffered. Mr. Davis, you must take it because if you don’t, I’ll assume you’re refusing to forgive me and I’ll stay on my knees until you accept it...”

Julian was stupefied when he heard that.

The Grand Pavilion was a very famous luxurious residential area in Eastcliff.

A townhouse with an area of over 270 square meters was worth around seven to eight million.

The property was too valuable to be offered as compensation.

“I-I can’t take it...” Julian waved his hands vigorously.

Matthew nodded in agreement. “Exactly. My buddy’s daughter is just a toddler. It’s not suitable for them to stay in a multi-storey building that doesn’t come with a courtyard because his daughter won’t have space to play! Moreover, one of the legs of my buddy was broken because of me years ago and it won’t be convenient for him to stay there too.”

Julian was dumbfounded. Was the existence of a courtyard the point?

Stanley’s heart gave a lurch when he heard that Julian had one of his legs broken because of Matthew. It seemed like he had underestimated the friendship between Matthew and Julian.

“Mr. Larson is right. Mr. Davis has a little girl and it isn’t convenient for them to stay in a multi-storey building. Let’s do it this way—Tiger, I think you should give Mr. Davis that mansion of yours in The Grand Garden.”

Tiger felt bitter because he had spent over thirteen million on buying and renovating the mansion in The Grand Garden which he had planned to make his home. It had been nearly half a year since the renovation was completed and he was getting ready to move into the mansion over the past few days.

He was really reluctant to give the mansion to Julian.

However, he gave up any intention to fight as soon as he thought of Billy Newman.

It was because he was not bold enough to offend someone who was treated politely by even Billy.