

My Dreamy Old Husband

Chapter 546

Joe heard those words clearly. Thus, his aged face turned red, and his fat body shuddered slightly. He was both angry and embarrassed at once as he hurriedly smiled at Sophia and said, “She’s talking nonsense! You’re my daughter! I don’t even have enough time to dote on you! How could I possibly try to harm you?!”

Faye hurriedly added, “We’re family! Don’t believe that outsider’s nonsense!! It’s not like you don’t know about that wench’s instigating methods!”

Back then, Xyla, that wench, had caused so much harm to me. How could I possibly be instigated by her words?! Sophia smiled but didn’t say anything. Then, the three of them entered Villa No. 8. Of course, I’m aware of what Joe is plotting. How could I not? Still, he doesn’t have what it takes to take over my assets!

Upon entering Villa No. 8, the look in Joe’s eyes darkened. *Damn that wench, Xyla! She nearly destroyed my plans! Just you wait! I’ll kill you when I get back, you b*tch!*

Xyla stood at the entrance, yelling after them. When she saw that it didn’t seem to have any effect, she quickly took out her phone and frantically sent messages to Sophia, telling Sophia everything she knew about Joe’s plans. I don’t believe Sophia would willingly accept Joe as part of her family!

At that moment, Joe and Faye stood at the entrance of Villa No. 8 with their mouths agape. This is the legendary Imperial! The lavishness! The luxurious look! It’s comparable to Buckingham Palace! This is, without a doubt, the wealthiest residential area in Bayside City! The opulence is incomparable! It would be great if I can stay in one of the houses here! Especially Villa No. 8!

There must be dozens of rooms in that house! Moreover, it has a parking garage, a garden, a fountain, and a pool! God; how great would it be if I can live here for a while! No, I can't settle for staying here for a short while! I will live here for the rest of my life!

After a while, Michael finally came downstairs. Sitting on the sofa in the living room, he studied the father and daughter pair as they continued glancing about even after entering the house. Then, he smiled slightly and said, "Welcome."

Joe quickly smiled in response. Meanwhile, Faye stared fixedly at Michael when she saw him. At the same time, she swiftly stretched her long legs out on the sofa. Her sexy and shapely legs peeked out from behind her black stockings, and she even glanced at him seductively from time to time. In stark contrast, Sophia sat opposite her, dressed in pajamas. Hmph; she has no redeeming features whatsoever! How can she possibly compare with me?! The only reason she acts so arrogantly is that Taylor is backing her! If I can win over Taylor...

Faye was busy making plans. However, Joe had other plans of his own—he wanted to move into this house! Better yet, his name should be added to the title deed!

Sophia glanced at the scheming pair—their malicious intentions were practically displayed on their faces. Smiling mockingly, she clicked on the messages Xyla had sent to her. There were more than ten messages, and all of them were several-second-long voice messages. After that, she listened to the voice messages right in front of the pair.

Immediately, Xyla's bitter and hysterical voice played out for everybody to hear. "The Edwards Family are a bunch of scoundrels! Did you really believe that he would clarify things with you out of the goodness of his heart?! Once he enters Villa No. 8 of The Imperial, you'll be on the express lane to bankruptcy! That guy would never leave without sucking you dry first! Sophia, you're so pitiful and pathetic! You are forced to accept such a repulsive man as your father just to protect your husband's reputation! Even I feel disgusted on your behalf! They plan to murder your son and your husband, then steal all your wealth from you! You never imagined that, did you?! Haha! If my guess is right, Faye, that b*tch, is already starting to flirt, isn't she?! That b*tch can't keep her legs closed whenever she sees a man in front of her! Haha; letting that b*tch into your house was a mistake! She'll sleep with your husband sooner or later! That slutty b*tch has slept with more men than the total amount of rice you've eaten in your entire life! Do you seriously believe your husband can withstand her charm? Why don't you come to your senses? You aren't their opponents! Besides, so many have seen your body before! Don't you feel unclean?! You were sexually violated by your uncle! You've been sullied a long time ago! Moreover, Taylor has so many beautiful women by his side. Do you really think that you can tie him to you? Hahaha! You couldn't even hold onto Richard! Let me count; how many days would it take Faye to seduce your husband? Three; no, two days? Let's wait and see!"

Sophia played those voice messages on her phone, deliberately setting the volume to the maximum. Thus, Xyla's resentful voice resounded in the living room. Listening to it, Joe and Faye flushed beet-red and were unable to say a single word. Furthermore, Faye looked extremely embarrassed and hurriedly withdrew her legs.

After listening to it once, Sophia listened to it again as if she had not heard it clearly the first time. Hence, those bitter and spiteful words rang out in the living room again. In response, the Edwards father and daughter pair seemed to react like they were sitting on a bed of needles after listening to it.

Joe waved it off, saying, "Don't listen to the nonsense that wench spills. She's gone insane! How could she say such unfounded words?!"

Still, Michael didn't say anything while he quietly drank some water with a vague expression of ridicule on his face. On the other hand, Sophia didn't seem to have heard enough. So, she listened to it again while playing on her phone.

Consequently, only Xyla's bitter and resentful voice rang out in the living room again and again. And every time it repeated, it felt like it was stabbing into Joe's heart again. He knew that Taylor and Sophia were sending him a message!

Despite relying on Joe, they had no intention of giving him any benefit in return! Not a single thing!

Bam! Joe decided to take the initiative and gain the upper hand. Slamming his hands down on the table, he stood up from the sofa and pointed at Sophia viciously. “You unfilial daughter! Kneel before me!”

Glancing lazily at Joe, Sophia ignored him and continued listening to the voice messages.

Looking at her attitude, Joe felt his hatred bubbling up again. “The two of you deceived me and made me suffer so much! How dare you turn to me when you need me, then kick me to the curb when I’m no longer useful to you! Just you wait! Once I return, I’m going to reveal your true colors to the world! I’ll show them just what kind of people you are!”

Still, Sophia remained silent. She acted as if she had not heard him yelling at her. Then, Faye stepped forward and tried to smooth things over. Looking at Michael and Sophia, she said, “Hey, can’t you see how angry Dad is? Quickly apologize to him right now! We’re family. You shouldn’t be listening to what an outsider says. How could Dad do anything to harm you?”

Surely, even Faye did not believe in the words she herself had uttered. In any case, Sophia did not react to them as she continued playing on her phone. Rather, Michael spoke up instead. He coldly said, “Nicholas, bring it out.”

A moment later, Nicholas appeared with a thick stack of papers in his robotic hands. Then, he placed them in front of Joe.

“Take a good look at that, father-in-law,” Michael said, strongly emphasizing the first six words.

Flipping through the papers casually, Joe’s expression immediately darkened. How did Taylor obtain this?!
