

My Dreamy Old Husband

Chapter 633

Even though the cat was out of the bag when it came to Sophia and Michael's marriage, it wasn't like everyone knew about it yet; some of the workers still didn't know, and everyone gossiped discreetly as they worked at their computers.

"Why isn't Taylor here even though the company's going through such an upheaval?"

"I've been here a few months already, and I've never seen him swing by before."

"A mere rumor, I guess. How old is Miss Edwards anyway? 22? How could she be married this young?"

"There's Miss West too. It's rumored that she's Ethan's girlfriend!"

Much to their surprise, a surprised cry rang out just after they spoke.

"We've got a celebrity here! Come on, they're at reception!"

Everyone hastily rushed over to the reception area and caught sight of Sophia walking in. She was talking to a gorgeous woman.

"It's Nicole!"

As the leading actress of 'War Dragon', Nicole had climbed up to the top in the local industry with her first major role. Despite being a female protagonist in a movie centered around men, she wasn't overshadowed by her two co-actors and had opened up a new stage in her career. Ever since 'War Dragon', multiple film offers kept coming in for her. As her managing company, Imperial Entertainment did their best to grow her career, accepting many high-quality projects for Nicole. Now, many eyes were on Nicole during her promotions for her second movie as a female protagonist.

When Nicole got to know about Sophia's troubles with her company, she deliberately canceled some of her promotional activities to visit her. The two women laughed as they stepped into the workplace.

"Yeah, it's alright now. It's inevitable that we'll face some challenges, but it's all in the past," Sophia said as they walked. She was rather positive and upbeat about this.

It was Nicole's first time visiting Sophia's company. She exclaimed in surprise when she saw the employees. "Everyone here is so young—"

The company's employees were young and fresh-faced; some of them were only in their early twenties. Young people were filled with determination and were unafraid of anything.

Sophia puffed herself up. "Yep, they're all young. That's because young people are filled to the brim with ideas!"

Nicole's arrival had caused a huge stir. Now that she was a popular actress, she naturally had tons of fans. She stayed at the company for a while, and Sophia got someone to give each employee a photobook of Nicole so that they could get an autograph from the actress.

Everyone was beside themselves with excitement after receiving Nicole's autograph, and they trotted off back to work happily. It was Sophia's gift to them.

The employees could not stop talking about this the entire day, for they never thought that they would get to see a film star during their time here; it was definitely worth working for this company! Unexpectedly, there was another surprise the day after Nicole's visit while everyone was busy with work.

"Taylor and Ethan are here!"

At the sound of that, everyone threw down their work and sneaked over to the reception area to take a look. They could see that the company doors were open; two rows of bodyguards in black lined the sides as the dazzling stars came walking in with big strides. The pair were dressed in the same shirt and the same type of black slacks. One was blond, while the other had black hair. One was the princely type, while the other was wilder and louder. The two of them had completely contrasting styles.

Sophia had already known about Michael's visit as she came to welcome him in delight. She took a look at him; it seemed that he had come rushing here the moment he stepped off the plane.

"You're here at last, Uncle! I've missed you so much!" Stanley charged over to hug Michael, his emotions running high.

Michael allowed himself to be hugged for a few seconds before smacking Stanley in the face. "Stop your fake worshipping. I'm here to see your aunt!"

He approached Sophia and lowered his head to look at the young girl before him. She was dressed in a professional-looking business dress, and her hair was coiled up on her head. She had the beginnings of a powerful CEO in her. But no matter what, she was still his adorable girl.

"Why are you back?" Sophia asked him the moment she stepped closer.

“I came back because it’s the weekend.”

Sophia still had many things she wanted to say after going through such a huge ordeal, but now wasn’t the time. She lowered her head, a light flush on her face as she took Michael’s hand in hers. “Let’s talk about this in my office.”

“Alright.”

Sophia’s office was within the company’s office area. The two of them held hands as they headed to her office, and everyone’s eyes nearly popped out of their heads at this sight.

“Whoa, it really is Taylor!”

“Come to think of it, isn’t he filming something overseas?”

“Wait, the news even said that he ended up pummeling someone after he got drunk at a club last night!”

While Sophia showed some restraint, Sarah didn’t. She immediately leaped at Harry with a loud sob the moment she saw that he was back.

“You Old Wolf, you’re back at last!”

Harry felt rather embarrassed having dozens of eyes on him. He hugged Sarah and said in a low voice, “Okay, you’re a big boss now. Have some restraint!”

Sarah brought Harry back to her own office.

Meanwhile, Sophia took Michael to take a look around the entire office area. They had bought the entire floor; a few thousand square meters of space was more than enough for their team of a hundred people or so. They still had plenty of empty space with room to remodel further, and it looked like Sophia had great ambitions.

“The new office looks good. The remodeling went well.” Michael remembered to compliment the place.

Sophia had a look of pride on her face. All of the remodeling was done with her vision in mind; of course the place would be extraordinary.

As she brought Michael into her office, Sophia remembered to shut the door and locked it.

The employees' eyes were still as wide as dinner plates after they watched the pair enter Sophia's office.

That was Taylor in the flesh!

Stanley had been like a perfectly-behaved puppy when he first saw Michael. Now that Michael had left, however, he immediately transformed into a tyrannical boss as he said harshly, “What are you looking at? Never thought that your boss's partner would be this handsome? Why aren't you all back at work yet?”

The crowd didn't answer him.

Since Sophia was their boss, they supposed that Taylor was actually their boss's... 'wife'.

Everyone was filled with vigor, having seen two 'handsome wives' here at work today. They threw themselves even harder into their work.

Meanwhile, Michael immediately pressed Sophia against the wall of her office after the door closed. He cupped the back of her head with one of his huge hands and lowered his head to kiss her lips.

Ever since he went abroad, he constantly thought of her. However, she had been busy all this while. Sometimes, she wouldn't even pick up his calls, nor did she have the time to have video calls with him. He missed her greatly. He missed her voice, her scent, her everything. He greedily took in her sweetness and her warmth. It felt as though he was being caught under a spell...

Sophia managed to extricate her lips from his onslaught with much difficulty. "I have my own... private resting space next door," she said huskily.

Michael could feel the lust burning through him. He picked her up and kicked the door to the room next door; it was indeed a private break room. Other than the bed there, he didn't notice the other furniture inside the room.

Michael retreated after a dance of passion, knowing that she still had work to do. She then put her clothes back on and called Stanley and the others into her office to discuss their next course of action.

Michael was very concerned about this, knowing her company's current struggle. "Celie doesn't have anything planned for the next few days, so I'll get her to guard this place temporarily. At the very least, no one will dare to lay a hand on this place," he said.

If Celine was here, no shady person would dare to come here again. Furthermore, she would have something to do as well. It would save her from having no outlet for her energy born from her youth and make her go stir-crazy.