

The Best Son in Law Chapter 102 – 104

Chapter 102

This action is nothing for the average couple, but it's different for the two of them.

Maya Shen's face was also slightly red, not daring to look at Haoden Ye's face and just pulled Haoden Ye inside.

"Shen is here so early!" Only two people walked out of the two sections and a voice came from behind them.

When Haoden Ye and Maya Shen turned around, they saw a young man in an expensive suit walk in.

The young man was in his mid-twenties, handsome, with a slender and well-proportioned body, and belonged to the class of idols.

"Mr. Long, you're here!" Maya Shen saw the young man immediately let go of the hand holding Haoden Ye's arm and greeted him with a smile on her face.

Long had a handsome smile on his face, and his gaze hurriedly swept Haoden Ye with a glint of contempt in his eyes.

"Mr. Shen's outfit tonight is almost as good as those female celebrities who endorse our company's products!" Long showed a charming smile and suddenly extended his hand to Maya Shen, making a gesture to shake hands.

Maya Shen also extended her hand politely, not wanting to have her hand just held by Long, who suddenly lowered his head and actually wanted to kiss the back of Maya Shen's hand.

And where she couldn't see, Long's eyes lifted up and gave a provocative glance at Haoden Ye.

Haoden Ye's heart was just upset when he saw his appearance, this Long was clearly giving himself a hard time.

Seeing that Long's lips were about to touch the back of Maya Shen's hand, Haoden Ye suddenly took a step forward and pulled Maya Shen's arm to pull her hand back.

Maya Shen is considering whether or not to pull back, after all, this Long is always an important figure in the Holander's Group, and their company's main object of cooperation is the Holander's Group, and if people are unhappy, there's no telling how many people in their own company won't be able to eat.

Besides, Long always came back from graduating abroad, and she knew that foreigners had this custom.

If you draw back your hand rashly, I'm afraid the dragon will be unhappy.

Pulled back by Haoden Ye, Maya Shen was shocked and turned her head to see the angry light shining in Haoden Ye's eyes, Maya Shen's heart couldn't help but feel sweet.

However, she soon became angry as well, and stared at Haoden Ye fiercely.

Huh? Are all men that careful? It's a western courtesy!

Long always felt Maya Shen's hand pull back and his eyes flashed with a shade of shade, but he quickly returned to the gentleman's smile and raised his head, "I'm so sorry, I spent six years at Wharton School of Economics, I'm used to the Western manners of treating beautiful women!"

Afterwards, he turned to an attendant and waved, "I forgot to give you your keys earlier, go park my car." As we spoke, we pulled out a Ferrari key.

Is this an obvious way to show off your Ferrari?

Haoden Ye looked just unhappy in his heart and couldn't help but mock, "As soon as my car came over just now, the waiter asked for the keys to leave, why didn't he ask Long for them?"

Maya Shen frowned slightly and stared at Haoden Ye fiercely, blaming him for tearing down General Manager Long's show-off.

A chill flashed across Long's face, which turned into a polite smile and turned around, "Who is this gentleman, Mr. Shen's driver?"

Maya Shen listened to his words, a haze flashed in her eyes, she spent more than ten thousand to buy this outfit, and Long's outfit must have cost at least tens of thousands.

Looking at Haoden Ye's outfit, it was just a few tens of dollars worth of floor goods.

If you can borrow a Maybach, can't you borrow a suit?

"As the saying goes, the golden nugget of gold, and I'm a man who doesn't care about clothes!" Haoden Ye smiled faintly and said without humility, "I'm Shen's husband, Haoden Ye!"

Haoden Ye had been in contact with all kinds of big people these past few days, and his originally cowardly personality had also undergone subtle changes, and in front of these rich people, he didn't speak with as little confidence as before.

Maya Shen's eyes flashed with a touch of apprehension, the Haoden Ye she knew who met someone like General Manager Long was usually inferior first ah.

But at this time, Haoden Ye choked on his words a bit, but was much better than the former husband who was too breathless to speak.

General Manager Long immediately had an exaggerated look of surprise on his face, as if he couldn't believe that Haoden Ye was Maya Shen's husband.

"I'm so sorry!! I thought that for such an excellent woman like Shen, his husband must be a big CEO of some company, but I didn't expect you to be so plain!" Long was busy showing an apologetic look, and his words went very harsh.

Maya Shen frowned slightly and she also realized that Long seemed to be intending to mock Haoden Ye.

“Everyone should be here, Long come with me to the private room!” Maya Shen faintly said and turned around and left, leaving Haoden Ye and Long behind.

General Manager Long’s eyes narrowed, quickly glanced at Maya Shen, then quickened his pace to follow, walking to the place alongside Maya Shen to: “Before going to the private room, I also want to talk with General Manager Shen about cooperation, many people in our company are very opinionated about investing one billion of your company, fortunately I dissuaded them in time.”

He was standing very close to Maya Shen, obviously deliberately angry at Haoden Ye.

Maya Shen’s face changed slightly at that, and although she also noticed that Long was a bit too close to her, she didn’t immediately pull away.

Knowing that the other party was deliberately irritating himself, Haoden Ye was still unhappy in his heart, but also quickly followed up, walked to the front of Long to stall him, and stood parallel to Maya Shen.

General Manager Long sneered, the corner of his mouth flashed, and although Maya Shen was also unhappy in her heart, she wasn’t mad at Haoden Ye, but felt that General Manager Long was a bit too much.

The three men arrived at the booth, but saw that a dozen people had already made it inside.

As soon as Mr. Long entered the private room, everyone stood up with a complimentary look on their faces.

The girls in the company’s eyes lit up at the sight of Mr. Long’s handsome appearance and outstanding temperament.

“Mr. Long is so handsome!”

“I heard he graduated from abroad and came back from a good family!”

“Rich and talented, this is the standard version of rich and handsome, if I had to choose between Si Cong’s husband and him, I’d pick him!”

The girls discussed it heatedly, while a few other men looked envious.

As soon as Long entered, someone made room for him and Long sat down with a small smile.

When Maya Shen and Haoden Ye came in, there weren't many people looking at them, only two people from Holander's group politely said to Maya Shen, "Shen is also late, are you going to punish yourself for three cups."

Maya Shen smiled shallowly and said, "I'm so sorry, I'm waiting for my husband!"

The two people looked over at Haoden Ye, their eyes just swept up and down, their eyes went cold, and they just said politely, "Hello."

Haoden Ye was also used to being belittled and naturally wouldn't mind, but Maya Shen's face flashed with a haze.

Chapter 103

Entering the private room, Maya Shen was about to find a place to sit down when Long suddenly stood up and said, "Shen, come sit on my side, I have more space here."

Here he was in the highest position, so there was a double chair specifically vacant for him, but the rest of the place was a bit more crowded.

However, as soon as that was said, the eyes of the people in the booth became strangely ambiguous.

The two men from the Hongs looked at each other with a wry smile on their lips at the news.

Mr. Long had shown his affection for Maya Shen a long time ago, just not in public, and the two of them were naturally very clear about it.

Now in front of other people's husbands, Mr. Long even said such words, this is clearly a public humiliation Haoden Ye.

Maya eyes inside also flashed a touch of displeasure, his own husband is still there, Long General Manager put forward such a rude request, this is not deliberately let Haoden Ye down!

“No, she can just sit with me!” Haoden Ye grabbed Maya Shen and pushed inside the crowd.

“Mr. Shen, our company is working more and more closely with your company, why don't you, the vice president of the company, give me any face at all!” Long's face was gloomy, and he said faintly.

The atmosphere in the private room immediately went cold, the two people from Holander's group had a sneer on their faces, while the people from Sheng Wen International had a nervous look on their faces.

If Long isn't happy about demanding divestment, their pay rates will be cut by at least half!

“Shen, Long is also being kind, in case you're crowded with us, just go over and sit down!” A middle-aged man stood up, looking like he should be from the company's management, and as he spoke, a pair of eyes darted a fierce glance at Haoden Ye.

Maya Shen's face turned slightly white, and her petite body began to tremble slightly.

Mr. Long is using his work relationship to threaten himself!

Thinking of this kind, a wave of grievances came to her heart, if her husband was also a person like General Manager Long, why did she have to settle for anything?

Realizing the expectant, nervous eyes of his company and the undisguised coercive gaze of Mr. Long, Maya Shen dug in double time.

It was at this time that a voice suddenly sounded.

“Holander's Group is one of the largest enterprises in China, it's unexpected that they would do something like this, if the female staff of the partner company is not willing to pay for it, they have to cut off the possibility of working with other companies, so it's fine if such a company doesn't work with them!”

Everyone looked over after hearing this, but Haoden Ye's face was cold as he looked at Mr. Long.

The atmosphere in the private room reduced to zero, and everyone looked over at General Manager Long, but they saw that he looked very ugly and his eyes were incomparably sharp at Haoden Ye.

Maya Shen also turned pale, but strangely enough, she was very embarrassed just now, but after hearing Haoden Ye's words, it felt like it wasn't you guys tangled up anymore.

Yeah, if you have to resort to sucking up to Hong's talents to maintain cooperation, it shows that Hong is just that.

However, her heart relaxed, she was also very surprised, when Haoden Ye had this calm heart to say this, according to his character in the past, at this time, either inferiority sad, or thunderstorm?

"Oh, Shen's husband is too stingy, I'm just seeing that your side is more crowded, a nice gesture!" To everyone's surprise, Long didn't even get angry right away, but smiled a far-fetched smile.

He really wanted to walk away in a rage, yet he didn't dare.

He was able to take charge of the cooperation with Shengwen International not because he was good at his job, but because his dad arranged it deliberately.

His dad had said that the reason why the Hong's were so invested in a small company like Shengwen International was all because the Hong's young owner, Zyden's friend, had appointed to work with the company.

And his dad's purpose in arranging for him to come over was simple: for him to befriend Zyden, a friend, but who this friend was, Long wasn't qualified to know yet, so he had to find out on his own.

"That's right, Mr. Long is taking pity on you, you're too incompetent as a husband, but your own wife is crowding with others!" The company executive who spoke just now also hurriedly agreed, looking at Haoden Ye with an unhappy face.

Haoden Ye ignored them and very forcefully pulled Maya Shen to squeeze into a pile of people and sit down.

“Hello, is everyone in your private room? Can we order?” At that moment, an attendant walked in and smiled at the crowd.

“Long is always a guest, of course Long orders!” That company executive stood up and smiled at Long with a stammering face.

Mr. Long smiled slightly, his body result the menu handed over by the waiter, hurriedly swept a glance, and suddenly his eyes shone, smiling, “I’m really sorry just now, why don’t we let Mr. Ye order the food?”

Mr. Long had even apologized to Haoden Ye, which made the people in the private room look relaxed.

Maya Shen also had a hint of a smile on her face, it seemed that this General Manager Long’s character wasn’t too bad, seeing how protective Haoden Ye was, he knew it was difficult to retreat.

The waiter handed over the menu to Haoden Ye, Haoden Ye saw the wide variety of dishes on it, and then looked at the prices, and was surprised.

A plate of fried peanuts costs two hundred dollars, and it doesn’t look like the plate is big.

Look at the alcoholic beverages, the lowest of which is over a hundred bottles of beer.

But today was a public treat anyway, so he wasn’t polite, and was about to order food when he heard Long suddenly say, “Ah! I forgot to say, I’m used to eating foreign food and I’ve just returned to China with a bit of a taboo, so help me see if I have any German food!”

The waiter immediately said after hearing Long’s words, “Does this gentleman like German food? I’ll get you another menu!” Said a quick step out.

By the time he came back in, Haoden Ye had already ordered a few small dishes and fruit platters.

The waiter bar handed the menu to Haoden Ye and smiled, "It's all in German, I don't even understand it, just mark what you want to eat!"

Everyone in the booth heard the faces change slightly, Devon?Who can read this!

Long's eyes narrowed and his lips smirked.

It wasn't his first time at Imperial KTV, and he knew there was a special menu for foreign guests.

Everyone's eyes were focused on the ambassador, some with a watchful sneer, while others frowned with a worried look.

Maya Shen's pretty face once again surfaced with anger, this Long is also too excessive, where can Haoden Ye Devon?

She was about to say that Haoden Ye couldn't speak German, when suddenly there was a chirping sound in her ears, as if speaking some language that was unfamiliar to her, and the one who made this sound was his husband, Haoden Ye!

Chapter 104

"What...what are you talking about!"Maya Shen dumbfoundedly looked at Haoden Ye and asked in surprise.

"O German!"Haoden Ye smiled slightly and pointed to the menu, "I'm reading the menu!"

"You...even know German?"Maya Shen couldn't quite believe her ears, when did Haoden Ye know German?

The others in the booth were similarly surprised, they more or less knew about Maya Shen's useless husband, they heard that he dropped out of high school before he finished, how could he know German?

Long's face, on the other hand, became very ugly, and he knew a little bit about Haoden Ye's situation, but of course he didn't expect Haoden Ye to know German.

Haoden Ye just now, of course, didn't know German, but after he helped the Li family move their graves, he saved Master Bamboo Breaker and broke Zhang Chuyi's earth feng shui pattern in passing, and the koi spat out a purple bubble.

Just now, Haoden Ye used this purple bubble to learn the English, German, Japanese and French languages and related cultures.

"Oh, German isn't hard to learn, French is a little harder!" Haoden Ye smiled slightly and spoke lightly, "It's a good thing that Long doesn't like French food!"

General Manager Long's face became extremely ugly, and when he heard Haoden Ye's words, the corners of his mouth suddenly revealed a sneer, "Oh? Does Monsieur Yap also speak French?" Afterwards he said in French, "What a beautiful wife you have!"

Of course the others couldn't understand, Haoden Ye heard this, although his heart was upset, but knew that Long was deliberately irritating himself, smiled slightly and returned in French, "This is of course, you're just dreaming to get her!"

Long's face stiffened and his eyes flashed cold.

Everyone couldn't understand what the two people were saying, but listening to the pronunciation, it seemed like Haoden Ye's was more like French, while Long's voice was much stiffer.

Maya Shen had come back to her senses at this point, however was once again stunned to hear Haoden Ye's fluent French.

"Haha, there are plenty of people learning multiple languages these days, we have a few foreign language graduates in our company who speak the other languages one after another, it's just a pity that they still have to work for someone like Mr. Long in the company! Long has been living abroad for so many years, he must know more about foreign culture than we do!" At this time, the executive who had just been there suddenly harrumphed and laughed.

Long's face looked a lot better, and the crowd had recovered from their surprise.

What's so great about knowing foreign languages? Even if you know the language of a hundred countries, what good is it if you've never been to another country yourself?

The people who had just shown surprise at Haoden Ye had also turned cold.

Long had a smug smile on his face and said, "I haven't been to many countries, I spent six years in the United States when I was in school, and I've been to Canada and a few other countries during that time!"

"Long has really seen a lot of time!" Hearing Long's words, a girl suddenly looked envious.

"That's right, only rich people like Mr. Long can travel abroad everywhere, we work so hard every day, how can we have the time and money to go out?" The other girl nodded her head as well.

Long showed a smug look and gave a contemptuous glance at Haoden Ye.

Haoden Ye didn't seem to notice his gaze, focused on reading the menu and slowly raised his head and said, "I see that the dishes on this are mostly seafood, your chef here should be from Stuttgart."

The waiter turned pale with surprise as he heard, "Does sir know a lot about German food? Our chef is from Stuttgart, a famous city in eastern Germany!"

Everyone in the booth turned pale at his words, and just by looking at the menu, one could guess that the chef was from that part of Germany, and to say that he didn't have a thorough understanding of a country's culture was impossible.

In the midst of everyone's surprised gazes, Haoden Ye turned his head to Long and said, "I wonder if Long likes German peach wine or sparkling champagne!"

Long did go to Germany a few times, but he didn't know much about German wine, so where would he know the difference, but he certainly wouldn't show his lack of knowledge in front of everyone and said indifferently, "I like the taste of peach wine!"

His words trailed off as the waiter suddenly puffed out a laugh, his expression looking ridiculous.

Everyone looked at the waiter with a bemused look, and that executive saw that Long was upset and said, "What are you laughing at!"

The waiter quickly gave an apologetic look and said, "I'm so sorry, I didn't realize this gentleman liked to drink with ladies!"

It dawned on everyone that peach wine is lady wine.

And Long's face turned very ugly, he had just pretended that he liked the taste of peach wine!

"Oh, the Stuttgart's are heavy, my friend here is from Warsaw and his taste should be lighter, please tell the chef!" Haoden Ye closed the menu and smiled at the waiter.

"It seems the gentleman really knows Germany, I'll be sure to tell the chef!" The waiter gave an admiring look, picked up the menu and went out.

Mr. Long's face has been gloomy to the extreme, he was born rich, handsome and very talented, he had never suffered this kind of setback before.

"Mr. Long, I've heard you sing well, would you be so kind as to sing a song for us?" The executive saw Long's ugly blue and quickly smiled and complimented.

Although Haoden Ye acted surprisingly, but compared to status and looks, Long was much stronger than him, so the people in the private room paid the most attention to Long, and once they heard this, many people also started to compliment him.

Long, who had been made to look good by some ass-kissing, temporarily put down Haoden Ye and picked up the microphone to sing.

I must say that Long's singing voice was also very good, with a bit of a Holander Kong and Taiwan star flavor, which drew a lot of girls screaming.

And Haoden Ye no longer paid attention to General Manager Long and was busy explaining to Maya Shen that he could speak a foreign language.

"The daughter of the owner of the store next door to mine is married to a German, I learned that from him!"

Haoden Ye casually made up a reason: "He also knows French, and I learned it together by the way."

It's a far-fetched reason, but it's barely explained.

Maya Shen's look at Haoden Ye's eyes finally had some praise, although learning these was of little use, but at least it showed that Haoden Ye was not a man who was resting on his laurels and not thinking about progress.

"I remember you're studying medicine now, don't mess around with the rest, get your medical number first, and if you don't succeed in business, you can still get a medical certificate to become a doctor!" In her opinion, Haoden Ye's business was definitely no good, and the biggest payoff was to be a doctor.

Although it doesn't make a lot of money, it's a socially recognized and noble profession, and it has the ability to support itself.

"Oh my, Shen has so little faith in your husband!" At this time, a girl next to Maya Shen smiled delicately.