

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 896

After that, all five contestants that passed the preliminary round performed a simple encore before they went backstage to prepare for their next song.

The next elimination round would begin in the afternoon. Therefore, everybody returned to their rooms to prepare for the competition in the afternoon. Only three people would be left after the advancement round in the afternoon. Hence, they were anxiously practicing and memorizing their songs.

Janet did not return to her room. Instead, she was kidnapped by Mason to go out for lunch.

"Janet, that song of yours was so lovely. What is the title of the song?" Henry asked, trying to butter up to her.

She lowered her head to play on her phone. She didn't seem to care and faintly replied, "It's 'Untitled'."

"Right, right, right." He stared straight at her, seeming to have ulterior motives.

Mason held Janet's cold hands. At the same time, he unkindly rolled his eyes at Henry.

At that moment, Janet suddenly received a message from Walter. 'The color palette and tonal contrasting are ready. Shall I send it to you now?'

Her eyes gleamed, and the corners of her mouth lifted. 'Sure.'

Walter asked again, 'Now?'

Glancing at the time, she replied, 'It's lunchtime right now. Nobody will be looking at their phones. Let's wait until the elimination round in the afternoon!'

Walter: 'You are still you. You haven't changed at all.'

When she read the message, she couldn't help raising her eyebrows in response. 'I'll just take that as a compliment. Thank you. Also, please tell Gordon that I'm thankful for his hard work!'

Despite waiting for some time, Walter did not reply. Thus, Janet naturally turned the chat off.

At the same time, Megan and Brian initially went to Janet's room to talk to her. However, she was not around. So, they went to Emily's room instead.

When Emily saw Megan, she felt extremely aggrieved. "Mommy, it was so dangerous today. I nearly—"

Brian pursed his lips and pushed his glasses up his nose. "Emily, you did a good job! Relax!"

"That's right. Janet didn't do that on purpose either. Don't take those words to heart." Megan fell silent for several minutes before continuing, "Besides, you didn't plagiarize this time, right?" I've warned Emily before that there will be no next time. Those words are still in effect!

Looking into Megan's serious eyes, Emily instantly felt a surge of remorse. She shifted her gaze away, her small hands clutching at her skirt. "Of course, I won't plagiarize again, Mommy. I still remember what you said to me back then."

Brian smiled. "Of course, we believe you. Besides, Mr. Hilbert is so skillful. I'm sure you learned a lot from him."

"That's right." Megan smiled as well. "Still, Janet really surprised me this time." I never imagined Janet's piano skills to be so good. Even Brian and I were mesmerized by the sound of her piano.

Emily's expression turned ugly immediately. She nervously picked at her nails. "Mommy, Daddy, do you think I still have a chance at winning the competition?" I did not expect Megan and Brian to change their opinions of Janet so quickly! This is definitely not a good thing!

"Well..." Megan and Brian exchanged a glance with each other. Megan seemed a bit embarrassed as she explained, "Emily, it doesn't matter to us whether you or Janet wins this competition. After all, you are both our daughters. Even if you don't win first place, I will not deprive you of anything. I will always support you in whatever you want to learn."

What does she mean by those words?! Does she think that Janet is better than me?! Impossible! Janet's achievements came from plagiarism! Why does she receive their praises and affirmation?! Why can't I get everybody's acceptance when all I did was 'borrow' a little bit of inspiration?!

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 897

Why does everything I have get stolen away by Janet?! Why?! Emily clutched at Megan's hands tightly and shook her head. "Mommy, it's not the same! Janet is Janet, and I am me! She has gotten everything she wants. Why does she have to snatch away what belongs to me?!"

The first place of the competition was right at my fingertips. Why did Janet have to appear and destroy my dreams?! What else can that b*tch do aside from writing novels?! Oh, I forgot. That b*tch is also good at seducing men! I'm being so benevolent by not telling J'Adore about her affair with Mason. So, why is she still forcing me into a corner and pushing me into a dead-end?!

Megan and Brian had never seen Emily so emotionally distraught before. Thus, they could only comfort her by saying, "Emily, you've misunderstood. The winner of this competition has not been decided yet. There's no guarantee that you'll win either!"

"That's right. Emily, why don't you practice the song you are going to perform in the next round? Perhaps, you might even tie with Janet. It will be nice to win the competition together!"

If both Janet and Emily won the competition, then the Jackson Family's reputation will soar greatly. It would establish a great reputation in Sandfort City for the Jackson Family!

"Tie?!" Emily instantly broke free of Megan's arm. "It doesn't matter how much I prepare! Janet will surely win!"

"Emily, why are you so certain about that? Don't forget; Janet spent much less time learning the piano than you did. Why are you panicking now?" Megan could not understand. What is wrong with Emily? Why is she giving up after the preliminary round?

"Janet's song 'Untitled' isn't her original creation! It's plagiarized from Sweet Tune Guru! All the songs produced by Sweet Tune Guru are masterpieces! So, she will never lose! Whereas, my original creations will never win!" Emily roared at the top of her voice. That shout of hers was filled with deep grievances.

Megan and Brian shrank back in shock when they heard those words. They were stunned for several seconds before they said, "Emily, you must not wildly accuse others of plagiarism. Do you have any evidence?"

"I've heard every single song Sweet Tune Guru ever played. The song Janet performed on stage today was one of Sweet Tune's songs when she just debuted. It's just that Janet rearranged the song a little. She is so shameless that she performed the song in the competition and claimed that it was her original creation! So, why don't you tell me: how can I possibly win?!"

Megan and Brian felt as if they were struck by lightning after they heard what Emily said. Oh, my God!

"Are you telling the truth?!" Megan opened her eyes wide, seemingly unable to accept the truth. It had not been easy for her to finally acknowledge Janet from the bottom of her heart. And now, she learned that the daughter she acknowledged was completely unethical! She had always understood the severity of plagiarism. If I don't expose Janet right now, it will be very unfair toward Emily. But... I can't bear to expose Janet either. Regardless of what she did, she is still my flesh and blood. On the other hand, this girl in front of me is somebody I raised for 18 years! For a moment, Megan felt as if the sky was about to collapse on her.

Emily secretly glanced at Megan. Then, she intentionally rubbed her eyes and nonchalantly said, "Mommy, I was just being emotional just now. Don't blame Janet. After all, Janet wants to be good at everything. I'm just fulfilling her wishes!"

What they didn't know was that a girl was standing outside the door, eavesdropping on their conversation. Hazel clenched her fists tightly and hurriedly fled the scene. Walking into the room the organizers had prepared for Sheldon, she exploded in rage. "She is so shameless! I've never seen anybody more shameless in my life!"

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 898

Sheldon sat on the sofa with his legs crossed. He leisurely asked, "What's wrong?"

"Sheldon, I need to ask you for a favor. You have to help me." Hazel was livid beyond words even before this incident. At first, she had gone looking for Emily to discuss their countermeasures. However, she had not expected Emily to keep quiet despite suffering such a terrible injustice. Now that she knew about it and heard about it, she could not sit idly by. I'm going to kick Janet out of this piano competition! Even if I'm not the winner of this competition, I cannot let Janet become the winner!

He could tell at a glance that it wasn't going to be something good. Thus, he looked up and coldly asked, "What is it?"

"Help me invite somebody over." She chewed on her lip, looking determined. "I want to invite Sweet Tune here. She has to arrive in Yobril before the finals this afternoon." I'm going to invite Sweet Tune herself to come here and personally expose Janet, that plagiarizing freak! As long as the person involved is here, Janet will not be able to talk her way out of it. Even if she has a thousand mouths, it won't do her any good! The honor of winning this competition belongs to others. I will not allow Janet to trample on it.

He frowned. His voice was emotionless and toneless as he asked, "What do you want to do?"

"I want Sweet Tune to expose Janet, that plagiarizing freak!"

When he heard those words, the look in his eyes wavered slightly. "Hazel, do you know what you're doing?"

"I know." She nodded without showing any weaknesses. "I will definitely not allow a plagiarizing freak to win this competition!" She strongly emphasized the words 'plagiarizing freak'.

He fell silent for a while before turning around. "I can't help you with this." It doesn't matter whether Janet plagiarized or not. I can't... He shook his head, trying to remove that girl's image from his head. Unfortunately, that night, as well as everything that occurred in the Fuller Residence, was vividly stuck in his head as if it had only happened yesterday. Even the way she rejected his invitation to eat dinner together made his heart melt!

Hazel had expected this answer. Therefore, she sneeringly said, "Fine. If you won't help me, then I'll go to Dad. Dad can help me instead!" Dad loves me so much. I don't believe that he will refuse to help me search for somebody!

Upon hearing the word 'Dad', he felt his heart sinking. "Hazel, stop causing trouble!" Dad is still recovering from his sickness. I can't trouble him over such trivial matters.

She said, "But, even my brother, who loves me the most, won't help me. Who else can I ask?"

Sheldon rubbed his eyes irritably before coldly saying, "Fine. I'll search for her. But, you better do this after you've gotten definite evidence."

"Haha, you don't need to worry about that, Sheldon." The corners of her lips curled into a sneer. Then, she slowly walked out. I can't believe that a plagiarizing freak managed to make my brother fall in love with her... Hmph. What is there to like about her? All she has is a pretty face!

Hazel did not tell Emily that she asked Sheldon to search for Sweet Tune. Otherwise, somebody as kind as Emily would never allow her to ask Sweet Tune to help expose Janet. If so, then allow me to be the villain instead! I can also consider it as helping Emily out. Even if I can't win, I want the winner to be somebody who competed fair and square in this competition.

At the same time, Janet had just finished eating her lunch.

"What time does the second elimination round begin in the afternoon?" Mason held her hand and entered the car.

"At 2 PM." Five performances will take two hours. So, the competition will end at 4 PM.

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 899

The man squeezed Janet's small hands and dotingly said, "Sleep for a bit. I'll wake you up later."

Janet indifferently made a non-committal grunt in reply and leaned into the man's arms. Her small hands naughtily groped his waist as she teased, "How nice. Your muscles have gotten much firmer."

He pursed his lips without saying anything. Then, he took her hands and moved them to his private parts. "If you continue being cheeky, I'll give you a taste of something else that is firmer than my muscles."

She said nothing and immediately moved aside, pushing the man away from her.

At that moment, the phone in her pocket rang suddenly. She took it out and saw that Lee was calling her.

Lee's gentle and deep voice came from the other side of the phone. "Somebody is looking for you."

"I'm busy!" The girl's voice was cold and distant. "I'm having a competition this afternoon. Where will I find the time to run around?"

Lee said, "I accepted the job on your behalf. It's a 100 million appearance fee!" After saying that, he couldn't help snickering.

She was rendered speechless. 100 million... If I can't go, I'll have to pay a compensation of 1 billion for breach of contract! What is Lee trying to do to me?! She became anxious. "Lee, do you want to get fired?!"

"Janet, why are you getting so anxious?" Lee could tell that he had angered her. Thus, he hurriedly explained, "The person who issued this job is Sheldon Fuller. He wants you to appear at the grand theatre before the finals today."

"It's that simple?" She relaxed slightly after hearing that.

Lee replied, "Yup, it's that simple. Isn't 100 million worth it?"

"Okay. I got it." After saying that, Janet immediately hung up. Even without this job, I already planned to reveal my identity anyway.

The man sitting next to her turned and looked at her before asking, "What's up? Where are you going?"

She raised her eyebrows at him and casually replied, "I'm not going anywhere."

When he heard her reply, he snatched her phone away, pressed her head against his shoulder, and softly said, "Then, go to sleep."

"Okay." After saying that, she really closed her eyes.

The man held her small phone in his hands and silently mulled over something for several seconds. In the end, he turned on her phone and secretly went through her contacts. He switched out all the intimate nicknames in her contacts. The name 'Mason' was also changed to 'Official Boyfriend'. He looked at the new title in satisfaction, the corners of his mouth curving into an idiotically blissful expression.

At the same time, Emily and Megan were at a stalemate inside the room. Emily was desperately grabbing Megan's hand and pleading with her. "Mommy, don't go to Janet. I'm sure she won't do it again." If Megan goes to Janet right now, she will surely drag me down with her. That won't be beneficial to us.

"Emily, you know my character. I will never condone something like plagiarism." Megan was so furious that her face was blue. Why are both my daughters like this?! Didn't Janet learn anything from Emily's mistake back then?! Our relatives talked about the incident where Emily plagiarized Janet's drawings for more than half a year! It wasn't until Emily went to study abroad that they gradually forgot about it! I wasn't really bothered by it at the time but now, the one doing the plagiarizing is my biological daughter! I can't tolerate such behavior!

Emily bit her lip and said aggrievedly, "If she is still performing a plagiarized piece in the next round, then I will expose her identity on the spot." She spoke angrily, acting as if it were true.

Taking a deep breath, Megan finally compromised and said, "Okay." I'm utterly disappointed with Janet.

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 900

Meanwhile, Sheldon received news that Sweet Tune Guru had agreed to his request.

Hazel was thrilled, as she could finally expose Janet's true colors.

With Sweet Tune's appearance, Emily will finally be the rightful champion!

And Janet would have caused her own destruction!

At this moment, a message was slowly beginning to trend on Twitter.

The piece that Janet played during the preliminary round had attracted everyone's attention.

"D*mn. My last impression of Janet is that she's a top scholar. How did she turn into a pianist all of a sudden?"

"Holy crap. I didn't expect Janet to be able to play such a difficult piece."

"Oh my God. Is it too late to rush to the competition venue now to cheer her on?"

"Does this mean she can be considered the champion already?"

"But, don't you think the tune Janet played resembles a certain master's?"

"You're talking about Sweet Tune Guru, right?"

"Yes, yes!"

"Oh! No wonder I found them so similar!"

"Then, could this song have been plagiarized?"

"Goodness me. Janet has quite the courage, doesn't she? How dare she plagiarize during a competition? That's not possible!"

“But, the tone and style of this piece really resemble Sweet Tune’s song. I’m beginning to wonder if Sweet Tune wrote it herself.”

“Could Janet be another one of Sweet Tune’s apprentices?”

“That’s nonsense. Sweet Tune admitted herself that Roxy is her only apprentice!”

“Damn, what’s going on here?”

“We’ll just have to wait and see how the organizer solves this!”

In that instance, another message was posted on Twitter: ‘It is understood that Sweet Tune will appear at the World Piano Competition today, but what she will do remains to be observed.’

As soon as this news came out, Twitter erupted into an uproar.

“D*mn. It’s definitely because Sweet Tune was alarmed by Janet’s plagiarizing.”

“Oh, my God. How cool would it be if they got into a fight on the spot!”

“One writes books, and the other writes songs. It would definitely be interesting to watch them battle it out!”

“This is too exciting! I can’t wait to see what happens next!”

“Yes! We must support Sweet Tune as she fights against that plagiarizing freak!”

At the same time, Janet, Mason, and Henry were rushing to the competition site.

Henry drove while Janet and Mason sat in the back.

“Mrs. Lowry, why did you want to participate in the competition?” Henry asked curiously as he rubbed his nose.

Janet contemplated the situation. She would have to appear at the competition as Sweet Tune, so she might as well let Henry be mentally prepared.

Therefore, she said, “Because I want to get back something that belongs to me. I—”

As soon as she started speaking, a rumbling sound came from behind.

Janet and Mason instinctively turned toward the sound.

All of a sudden, their pupils constricted and they spoke in unison. "Henry, be careful!"

Hearing the noise, Henry glanced in the rearview mirror and saw a black truck speeding along from behind. It was going to crash into them as if the driver had lost control.

Henry reacted swiftly. He swerved and watched as the truck slammed into the object in front of it.

Henry immediately relaxed, and his thin lips twitched. "Young Master Mason, Mrs. Lowry, my driving skills are commendable, right?"

The moment he said that, another rumbling sound rang out from the left side, and the three of them looked over at the same time.

However, because they had just turned a corner, they had no other road to turn into, so they could only watch as the truck on their left side crashed into them.

Mason's pupils constricted once again as he panicked and covered Janet with his body. "Jan, watch out!"