

Sir, You Don't Know Your Wife Chapter 1084

She deliberately lowered her head as she sadly replied, "Young Master Gerry, you are enough for me. I'm not interested in other men at all. However, I heard that Young Master Mason invited my parents. It's been so long since I last saw them, so I miss them a lot." Emily winked at Gerry flirtatiously. "Apart from that, if you are willing to ask your father about this, I'm sure you can join the party too."

Upon hearing that the Jackson Family was also invited, Gerry slightly wavered.

After all, the Davidson Family had similar social status as the Jackson Family.

If the Jackson Family could attend the party, it should not be arduous for the Davidson Family to participate as well.

More importantly, he could get to know more beautiful socialites at the party.

Upon seeing his hesitant expression, Emily rubbed her cheeks on his chest. "I've already made it so clear. Is it because I'm not good enough that you don't want to agree to my request? Or didn't I serve you well enough?" she asked weakly.

He was almost overwhelmed by her sweet and soft voice.

Hence, he opened his mouth and caressed her head. "Alright, I will talk to my dad about it so that he would plead with the Lowry Family for us to attend the party."

Emily's eyes narrowed immediately. Then, she kissed his thin lips. "Love you the most."

Meanwhile, on the other hand, the President knew that both Mason and J'Adore had been investigating him.

The past two weeks were quite tough for him.

There were many matters to attend to in Markovia, but he could only hide in Yobril for the time being.

For the past few days, he had been looking for test subjects and treatment subjects.

It was not difficult to find a test subject since any of his men would be a willing volunteer for the experiment.

However, it was difficult to find a treatment subject—the trump card in his hands.

Hence, he wanted to find someone who had a deep feud with both Mason and J'Adore.

Even though many people held grudges against both of them, the President could not leave Yobril for now, so the matter had to be on the backburner until now.

Since Mason and J'Adore's engagement party was an imminent matter, he knew that he could not afford to sit still and wait for his death. Otherwise, once they were done with their engagement party, they would have more free time on their hands. They would definitely look for him in Yobril.

When that happened, he could hardly escape from them.

"Mr. President, the engagement party for Mason and J'Adore is going to be held tomorrow. Shall we storm the event tomorrow?" one of his subordinates asked.

The President's eyes narrowed as he harshly knocked on the man's head. "What do you know?" he asked in annoyance. "This is an important engagement party for Mason and J'Adore. I know her well—she is a highly suspicious person. She will definitely arrange for tight security at the engagement party."

They would be digging their own graves if they started to attack during the party.

The President gritted his teeth. He did not expect his relationship with J'Adore to be so tense. Because of a man, she is willing to turn her back on our business relationship of many years! She thinks that she is tough now, huh? I can't believe that she's opposing me now!

For the past few days, Mason had been busy confirming the event venue, guests, and security.

In order to make sure that nothing would go wrong on the actual day, he had checked everything several times.

However, an awkward incident occurred—the Golden Lake Garden, which they had booked, could not accommodate a thousand guests.

Because they had forgotten about the MX group having a holiday at that moment, everyone including the captains and female fighters in the MX were going to attend the engagement party as well.

Apart from that, the higher-ups in Lowry Family Conglomerate and the Hawke Kingdom were also joining the party.

Mason had already added them into the guest list; however, there were still many guests on the day before the engagement.

It was impossible for 1000 people to fit into a villa that could only accommodate 500 people. Obviously, it would be packed like sardines.

“Find out about the venue that can accommodate a thousand people.” Mason rubbed his temples in annoyance. There’s only one day left until the engagement party. If the problem with the venue is not fixed, we have to delay the engagement again. However, I don’t want to wait anymore. I can’t wait for Janet to officially be mine.

Sean was rather quick in his investigation—he immediately found a place named White Clouds Castle.

White Clouds Castle was a place that was only built last year. Not only did it have the largest venue in Sandfort City, it also had the most lavish renovation and design.